

School of Public and Environmental Affairs
Indiana University

Smart Policy. Sound Science. Stronger Communities.

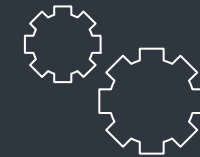

"The Indiana University (IU) School of Public and Environmental Affairs (SPEA) is a 'best in its class' leading the way in scientific discovery, teaching, and service to communities. With campuses located in Bloomington and Indianapolis, SPEA is the largest school of public affairs in the nation and has the highest-ranked public affairs degree at a state university."* IU SPEA is the sponsor of the Executive Education Program, located in Indianapolis.

The Executive Education Program is centered on positive change in the individual, the organization, and the global community. Since 1979, classrooms, corporate boardrooms, governmental agencies and non-profit groups have benefited from the research, teaching, and consulting of distinguished SPEA faculty.

*US News and World Report, 2009

about
EXECUTIVE
EDUCATION at
INDIANA
UNIVERSITY

THE FACULTY

Academic, corporate, and government agency experts from Indiana University, across the country and around the world lead interesting, challenging, and relevant executive level courses of study.

LEARN MORE

Please contact
Craig E. Hartzler, Ph.D.,
Director,
Executive Education
Program at 317.274.3418
Or visit us at execedspea.iu.edu

WE BELIEVE

We believe in innovative thought, practical learning, positive change, partnership, and integrity. Practicing these beliefs has made us one of Indiana's and the nation's most influential executive education and professional leadership programs.

ANTICIPATING, UNDERSTANDING and ADAPTING TO A NEW CLIMATE REGIME

NOVEMBER 13, 2009

WASHINGTON, D.C.
EMBASSY SUITES-CONVENTION CENTER
900 10th Street, NW Washington, DC 20001

Dr. Kenneth Richards, Director of the Environmental Programs offered through the SPEA Executive Education Program, has put together an outstanding cadre of presenters. The program will include an innovative look at the science of greenhouse gas emissions, a practical review of the history of emissions trading in the United States, a discussion of climate legislation and international agreements, and practical guidance on adapting to the new climate regime. Please feel free to forward this information to anyone that you think would be interested in attending.

PRESENTERS AND TOPICS

- David Frame, Smith School for Enterprise and the Environment, University of Oxford
"The Dynamics of Emissions and Climate Change"
- Robert Hahn, Georgetown Center for Business and Public Policy
"Understanding Emissions Trading: An Historical Perspective"
- Kenneth Richards, School of Public and Environmental Affairs, Indiana University
"A Framework for Climate Regulation"
- Scott Schang, Environmental Law Institute and Environmental Law Reporter
"Current Status of US Climate Legislation"
- David J. van Hoogstraten, Hunton and Williams, LLP
"Anticipating Copenhagen: What is in Store for the International Negotiations?"
- James Tansey, Sauder School of Business, University of British Columbia and Offsetters, Inc.
"A Primer on Emissions Offsets"

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Please contact the IU Executive Education Program
(PHONE) 317-274-3418 (FAX) 317-274-3753

(EMAIL) execeduc@iupui.edu

Online Registration
OPEN until November 6th
<http://execedspea.iu.edu>

The registration fee includes lunch, plus morning and afternoon breaks.

SPEA Alumni	$150
Government Employee	$150
General	$199

Payable by Check, MasterCard, VISA, or Purchase Order
Make check payable to: Indiana University

Mail Checks and PO's to:
SPEA Executive Education Program
801 West Michigan Street, BS4088
Indianapolis, Indiana 46205-5152